

Alessio D'Amato is Associate Professor of Economic Policy, Department of Economics and Finance, University of Rome Tor Vergata. He is also member of the executive board (representing the Tor Vergata Unit) of the SEEDS Interuniversity Research Centre. He is President of the Italian Association of Environmental and Resource Economists (IAERE) for years 2022-23. His research activity is focused on: drivers of environmental behaviours; eco-innovation; environmental economics and policy, waste management and policy; green public procurement. He has been and is involved in national and international projects, including the 2022-26 ETC/CE consortium (European Topic Centre on Circular Economy and Resource Use). He acts as a reviewer for several journals, and is co-author of several working papers, book chapters and papers published on international peer reviewed journals (including Ecological Economics, Energy Economics, Environmental and Resource Economics, Journal of Regulatory Economics, Research Policy, Resource and Energy Economics, Waste Management).